CITADEL MINIATURES VCS BLISTERCARDS

In 1983, Citadel Miniatures (a division of GAMES WORKSHOP), revolutionized the miniature figures by introducing the Variable Choice System (VCS). The system streamlined over 1,000 individually numbered figures into an easy to remember 40 codes.

Fantasy Tribes proved themselves to be a very successful fantasy range. Converting this idea to the rest of the range meant that, for example, all the wizards were taken from the existing range and formed one new code, CO2: WIZARDS. Similarly, fighters, giants, dwarfs, etc., merged into single stock codes.

The VCS system allows CITADEL MINIATURES to introduce a never ending supply of new and exciting figures (about 60 a month) keeping the range alive and interesting.

The Citadel Compendium has illustrations of the range and a plethora of articles.
